I have never accessed anyone else's account and I have one single account. Madeleine LeBlanc, an employee, (and yes, she is a real person,) uses my company credit card to run LinkedIn ads. I am really surprised that you take allegations from anyone at face value. Please expedite the restoration of my account and the G31000 website.

Hi Allen,

I truly apologize for the delay in my response. We've recently identified suspicious activity in your LinkedIn account. It appears that you may be accessing multiple LinkedIn accounts and/or sharing access to your account. This activity is in violation of the LinkedIn User Agreement. For a complete list of "LinkedIn User Do's and Don'ts", please see the LinkedIn User Agreement: https://www.linkedin.com/static?key=user_agreement

As a result, we've suspended your account. To allow access back to this account, we'll need a scanned image of a valid government issued photo ID (like a driver's license or passport) that has your:

- Photo
- Name
- Signature
- ID expiration date (if present)

Note: Prior to submitting your government issued ID, please cover the identification number on the copy of the document. We're using this information solely for the purpose of validating your identity and assisting you with re-accessing your account. We'll remove any and all copies of identity you've provided once this specific issue is resolved. Please note that if this issue comes up again, we may require you to present this information again.

I look forward to your response.

Regards,

Tomas

Please reinstate my account. I was on the road and forgot my password.
